UNCLE RILEY BENTLEY WILL BE 100 ON NEXT BIRTHDAY, OCT. 22ND

A Visit With Uncle Riley Bentley and Wife On Rockhouse

On Friday, May 1st Mr. and Mrs. Nolan of The Eagle visited in the home of Uncle Riley Bentley and his good wife on Rockhouse Creek. Uncle Riley told us he would be 100 years of age if he reaches October 22nd of this year. He stated that he has not been well for over a year, but seemed very alert and genuinely delighted for visitors to come, being most anxious to pass along some of the things of yesterday and reminiscences from his early life. He went out into the yard to have pictures made with us, even put his shoes on himself, refusing aid from us. He holds his head up proudly and is not stooped or drawn as one would think a hundred-year-old man might be. We asked him what he attributed his long life to and he immediately replied: "I have read in the Bible where it says, Honor your father and mother that your days may be long upon the earth." This I did and I always went out of my way to help my father, even to getting his wood for him after I married, and settled below his home. I would take my family and go and help him get his crops cultivated. I have tried to live by the Golden Rule. I have lived a simple but clean life. Many times I have helped others without fee or reward." Among the many things Uncle Riley told us was how

Jesse Hogg Honored By "Who's Who"

Jesse Hogg, son of Mrs. C. W. Smith of Whitesburg, was honored this year by representing Morehead State College in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." Mr. Hogg was one of fifteen students awarded certificates of honor in a recent assembly program.

Representatives to "Who's Who" are nominated by campus organizations according to their scholarship and leadership traits.

Jesse, a senior at the college, is majoring in business administration. He is editor of the school newspaper and a member of the Open Forum Club, the Morehead Players, and the Kappa Mu Club.

Marietta graduated from Jenkins High School in 1952, and is majoring in English at the college. She is a member of the Morehead Players and the Trail Blazer staff.

Comedy Play At Cumberland Hi. Gym Fri. Night, May 22nd

The world famous Barter Theatre of Virginia, which opens its summer season at Abingdon, Va., on June 15th and continues through Sept. 7, is presenting the hilarious comedy, "George and Margaret", at the Cumberland High School Gym. on Friday, May 22nd, at 8:00 P. M.

There is at least a chuckle a minute, and the excellent Barter players play it for all it's worth.

It concerns the doings of a Modern English household, mother, father, and three very modern children while waiting for the visit of the cordially disliked "George and Margaret." The latter, however, do not materialize throughout the entire three acts, which gives the Garth-Bander family ample time to solve all their difficulties.

Owen Phillips, actor director, is playing the part of Malcolm, while Dorothy LaVerne has been cast as Alice, his vague wife. Alma Loftness, Dinah Farr, Frank Lowe, Lauren Farr, Blanche McKinney and Tom McKeehan complete the excellent cast.

The play is being sponsored by the Cumberland Woman's Club.

Tickets for sale locally by Mrs. Archie Craft and Mrs. Lee Moore.

W. E. Stewart & Co. Sells To McAuley's

W. E. Stewart of Kona, sold his store known as W. E. Stewart and Co., this past week to Mr. and Mrs. James McAuley. Mr. Stewart had been in business in Kona since 1946 with Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Skaggs of Fleming as silent partners. The Stewarts will live in Allen Ky., where they have a business.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart made many friends in Kona and Letcher County, being great sports enthusiasts, they have one son Melvin, who attended Kona Grade School. He will attend Prestonsburg High this coming school term. We regret to lose the Stewarts, but feel that Mr. and Mrs. McAuley will be equally popular in their new undertaking.

A revival is now in progress at the Thornton Gap School house with the Rev. Clel B. Rodgers of the First Baptist Church doing the preaching.

The revival got underway Monday night with a good attendance, but on Tuesday night the preacher could not get there on account of high water, as the road runs through the middle of the creek. On Wednesday night, the revival picked up where it left off with a large attendance and larger crowds are expected now that the weather is clearing up.

Success Of New Civil Code Is Linked To Circuit Judges

Frankfort, Ky., May 18 — The state's circuit judges were told today the success of the new code of civil practice rests on their shoulders.

Professor Edmund Morgan of the Vanderbilt University College of Law traced various trial procedures through the ages, and explained why they had worked or failed.

The professor said that with lawyers and judges cooperating the new procedures, which come effective July 1, would be a success in Kentucky.

He said pre-trial conferences could do much to make for a speedier trial, in that all the unnecessary details would be dismissed before they reach the court.

"Once the unnecessary details are done away with, you judges then can devote your time and thinking to the very issues of the case," he said.

Seating Capacity To Be Doubled At Keeneland

An expansion program that will increase the seating capacity of Keeneland Race Course from 3,000 to approximately 6,100 was announced recently by Keeneland Association directors.

The directors said the present grandstand would be extended 200 feet toward the northwest. Pouring of footing for the work began last week, and completion of construction in time for the fall meeting is expected.

Cost of the construction was not announced by the directors. However, the association recently obtained a $250,000 building permit for the work.

The directors also disclosed that the bonded indebtedness of the 18-year-old track had been retired, and indicated that the expansion had awaited the retirement.

In the state of Kentucky, purchases of all series ran $4,279,817, or 31.6 per cent of the annual goal of $59.3 million.

Attention Teachers

Cancellation of the workshop came after it became evident that the enrollment was not large enough.

High Water Does Heavy Damage To Crops and Roads

On Monday of this week a steady downpour of rain that started about noon and continued up until Tuesday afternoon did many thousands of dollars damage to crops, roads and homes in Letcher, Knott, Perry and other mountain counties. The rain and high waters not only damaged the crops but placed undue hardships on many people who had already spent their earnings for seed, plowing and planting as well as many hours of hard work on their gardens and crops.

The county roads have been severely damaged by slides and inundation of hundreds of streams flowing from the mountain sides. As this is written, however, the streams are receding rapidly and we predict things will get back to normalcy within a few days.

Kentucky Press Backing Library

The Kentucky Press Association's executive committee has endorsed what it calls "this meritorious movement to bring books to adults and children in places without library facilities."

Victor R. Portmann, an instructor in the University of Kentucky's School of Journalism and Secretary-Manager of the Kentucky Press Association, said the committee's endorsing resolution urged members throughout the State to give their "personal and editorial support" to the project.

Portmann told Dr. Donald P. Brown, executive director of the project, the following resolution was passed at a recent meeting of the KPA's policy-making committee:

"Resolved that the Executive Committee endorses the state Bookmobile Project that is underway, and urges members of the Association to give their personal and editorial support to this meritorious movement to bring books to adults and children in places without library facilities." The Kentucky Press Association is made up of virtually every newspaper in Kentucky. Enos Swain, editor of the Danville Advocate-Messenger, is president.

The Kentucky Bookmobile Project hopes to purchase and equip 100 free public libraries on wheels for the people of Kentucky in one year and raise the State from 47th place in the nation in providing library facilities. Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby is honorary chairman.

It is sponsored jointly by the Friends of Kentucky Libraries—who provided the six Bookmobiles now in operation — and the Kentucky Library Association.

DON'T STAY BURIED

A farmer had an old blind horse which had out-lived its usefulness. One day he fell into an old abandoned well. The farmer looked in and saw him standing deep in the water. There seemed no way to get him out, and as he was quite useless, and the old well was dangerous, the farmer ordered his men to fill up the well and leave the old horse buried in it.

The men began to shovel dirt into the well. But the horse was not willing to be buried. When the dirt began to pour in upon him he began to shake it off and to tread it underfoot. As the well was being filled up the horse came nearer and nearer to the surface and when the men had finished their task the horse walked out into the pasture.

The very things which conspire to bury the lion-hearted these days, are used by them to lift themselves out of difficulties and into the light. The very last thing one should do is to agree to stay dead and buried.

Park For 'Breaks Of Sandy' Moves Nearer Reality

Pikeville, Ky., — May 15—A long discussed new park area for Eastern Kentucky moved closer to becoming a reality yesterday with joint pledges by Kentucky and Virginia officials.

Representatives of both states pledged to join hands in converting the scenic Breaks of the Sandy into a park with adequate facilities for tourists.

The two groups met atop a mountain overlooking the Breaks during the 11th Governor's Tour, which is exploring recreational and industrial possibilities of Eastern Kentucky.

Making the tour are Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby and about 50 newsmen, state officials and businessmen who are visiting state parks and various Kentucky cities.

Located near here, the Breaks of the Sandy is a six mile long canyon about 1,600 feet deep by which the Russell Fork of the Big Sandy River flows through the Cumberland Mountain. Kentucky owns only one-seventh of the Breaks, Virginia, which calls it "The Breaks of the Cumberland," owns the rest. The meeting between the two states was held on Virginia soil.

Governor Wetherby said, "If Kentucky had the Breaks we would have developed them already."

And Virginia State Senator M. M. Long, of St. Paul, Va. told the Kentuckians: "We are deeply grateful for your spearheading the development of the Breaks. We're going to team up with you in the development of a park."

Park facilities at the site at present consist of a combination hot dog and fruit stand. There are no tourist living quarters.

Dewey Daniel of Hazard, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, told the group that Kentucky last year collected 393 million dollars in tourist trade and that the figure is expected to rise to 500 million by 1955.

FLOOD CONTROL STUDY ON LITTLE SANDY AND TYGART'S CREEK ASKED

A promise that efforts to allocate funds to complete a flood control study of the Little Sandy river and Tygart's Creek in eastern Kentucky will be made during fiscal year 1953-54 has been received by U. S. Senator Earle C. Clements, he has informed state officials.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers has spent $1,400 on a study of flood damages on these streams, but $7,500 originally allocated to finish the review was withdrawn. Senator Clements asked that these funds be reinstated. In a letter to Conservation Commissioner Henry Ward, Senator Clements said he had been advised by Brig. Gen. B. L. Robinson, acting chief of the U. S. Army Engineers, "I can assure you that as soon as conditions permit and funds become available, every effort will be made to complete this study at the earliest practicable date, in order that a report thereon may be made to the Congress."

Clements added that in a telephone conversation with the Chief of Engineers, he was promised that every effort will be made to get an allocation for this study out of appropriations for the coming fiscal year.

Flood damage in both the Little Sandy river and Tygart's Creek has been high, especially from flash floods that have raced down the streams.

Social security insurance dollars go to more than 1500 people in Letcher County every month, Thomas Thompson, manager of the Hazard Social Security Office said today.

The story of each of these beneficiaries started in the social security field office with the issuance of a social security card. It reached a milestone there with the filing of an application for social security benefits.

"Those benefits," Thompson explained, "help keep families together when death or old age takes away the breadwinner's pay check. They make it possible for children to live at home and continue in school."

"The social security office is a service office. From the time a social security card is issued until the last benefit check is mailed, our job is to see that things go smoothly," declares Thompson.

"Remember," he concluded, "we are in business to handle old-age and survivors insurance affairs. Bring your social security problems to us. To better serve the people of Letcher County our representative makes regular visits to Whitesburg, Jenkins and Fleming. Your postmaster can furnish you with the dates and hours of such visits."

WHITESBURG, KENTUCKY

ROTARY CLUB ENDORSES MEDICAL SCHOOL FOR THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

THE WHITESBURG ROTARY CLUB

"He Profits Most

Who Serves Best"

WHITESBURG, KENTUCKY

May 12, 1953

Recognizing the need of more physicians in the State of Kentucky, the President of Whitesburg Rotary Club, on April 7th., 1953, designated a Committee, to look into this situation and make its report to the Club. This Committee has done so and wishes to offer the following resolutions and recommend their adoption by the Club:

WHEREAS, there is an acute shortage of physicians in this state, particularly in the rural areas and small towns—the counties of Butler, Edmonson, Gallatin, Hancock, Powell, Trimble and Wolfe having only two to the county, while the counties of Elliott, Menifee and Robertson have only one to the county, and there is evidence that this shortage is growing progressively worse from year to year, and

WHEREAS, this State through the University of Kentucky, has made provision for the education of its youth, in Pharmacy, Law, Agriculture, Engineering and etc., with no provision for the education and training of those who wish to enter the field of medicine, which is of such vital importance in guarding the health of her people, and

WHEREAS, the only medical school in the State of Kentucky, is owned and operated by the City of Louisville, a city of approximately a half million people, whose sole object, apparently is, to take care of applicants within its borders, with their next interest being to attract students from other states. A speech made before this Club one week ago today by the President of the Rotary Club of Pineville calling attention to an address recently made by Dr. Kinsman, the Dean of the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, was to say the least, typical of the attitude of that institution, when he made a threat, in this public address, that if the State of Kentucky refused to continue subsidizing for the maintenance of their institution, that they would pick their students from among the fabulously wealthy of other states and particularly from the State of Florida, a State that had made some kind of a fifty thousand dollar gesture in behalf of applicants for admission from that state.

THEREFORE, in consideration of every angle of this important question, shortage of physicians, general attitude of the school within our state, the obvious discrimination against applicants for admission, from within the state, the urgent need for relief, we would recommend that this Club go on record, recommending that necessary steps be taken toward the establishment of a medical school at the University of Kentucky in Lexington. This city already has two large hospitals and another, the Baptist which is under construction at this time. It also has two smaller hospitals—Crippled Children's and the hospital for tuberculars so there can be no question as to clinical material and hospital facilities in that city.

North Carolina maintains three medical schools and that state has a population of little in excess of one million more people than has Kentucky. Besides, the three medical schools in that state are located in cities with less population than the city of Lexington.

We would further go on record in protest against state aid or subsidizing a privately owned institution.

The Pine Mountain Missionary

—by John R. Isaac—

Friends, this is not the indication that another flood is coming to end the world (one could come locally), but it does indicate that the forces of nature might be used as a teaching method by God. I remember the occasion of the Northern Lights becoming visible about ten years ago. I was conducting prayer meeting at Haymond, and in the midst of my talk someone came into the room weeping and wondering if it was the end of time. No, friends, when God stops the clock of time, you will not be misled.

about that. Everyone will know.

We were delighted to have Rev. Wendell Bellew in our Pine Mountain Association during the week end. He preached at Jenkins Baptist Church on Sunday morning and at Fleming Baptist Church on Sunday night. Brother Bellew is also a chalk-drawing artist and is always an interesting speaker. Bro. Bellew is working jointly under our State Baptist Mission Board and The Home Mission Board of Southern Baptists. He has charge of our Mountain Mission work.

I am preaching this week, at one of our Mission Sunday Schools. This one is on Lewis Creek, and is under the supervision of Central Baptist Church in Cumberland. We will continue for at least one week and longer if the Lord so leads.

It is fairly certain now that we are buying a tent for the use of our associational work, and will be in use for our boys and girls camp on top of Pine Mountain. Remember that these camps begin — Boys Camp June 15-9, and Girls Camp, June 22-26. All campers should be getting ready to come. The final date to get your applications in will be June 1, 1953.

I am assisting the Haymond

Baptist Church with their Sunday School for some time. We are being assisted by helpers from the Fleming Baptist Church and the McRoberts Baptist Church. Miss Bobby Jean Lewis, from Fleming is helping in the Beginners work and assistance will be given in the Primary work by McRoberts. I will be teaching a Junior boys class and helping the Sunday School in general. Rev. Nelson Webb of McRoberts, is the consecrated pastor of the Haymond Baptist Church. He baptized two fine boys in the Fleming pool last Sunday. They were John Aubrey Addington and Nelson Webb, Jr. the oldest son of Brother Webb.

Now, a thought for the week—How can you tell if a tree is dead or alive in the spring of the year? If it puts out some new buds, then you know it is not dead. How can you tell if a church is dead? If it never gets outside of itself it is either dead or in the process of dying. The only sure sign of an alive church is that it buds forth into other mission points and multiply its usefulness in other near by communities. Our Association now operates five mission points. This indicates some life, but many more need to be developed. A recent survey of a community showed 36 per cent of the people were christians from nine years up and that the other 64 per cent did not pretend to be Christians. If every person could have the privilege (or lot) to spend five seconds in Hell, it would revolutionize every church in the world. See you next week.

estimated fairly close, Curlin said, but there are other losses, not suffered directly by the Department of Highways, that are incalculable.

The adverse effect that littered highways have on tourists that are bringing money into Kentucky can not be estimated, for instance. Nor can the threat to health brought on by unsanitary dumping grounds on public roads.

Highway litterers are of two types—the deliberate and the careless — according to maintenance officials, and both have an equal guilt in despoiling public property.

The deliberate set out from home with the week's garbage and deposit it on a roadside, often at a place where there has been dumping before and the result is soon a full-grown dumping ground complete with spoiled food, tin cans, bottles, old newspapers and dead dogs and cats.

The careless are the beer-can throwing type whose aim is to get small articles out of their automobile and who shower bottles, cans, wrappings from lunches and other items all along their route of travel. These items may not be as unsightly as a week's home accumulation of trash but the bottles and cans can be death on a mowing machine and they are hard to clean up.

Both types of trash throwers probably had a hand in littering a main four-lane highway out of Louisville recently to the extent that seven truck loads of rubbish were picked up by highway crews in a distance of two miles.

Reports from throughout the state say that highways have become favorite dumping places of some filling station operators who throw away large numbers of empty oil cans.

State statutes provide fines of up to $25 for throwing trash on highway rights-of-way and up to $100 for throwing debris on the highway proper.

JACKHORN BOY TAKES PART IN ATOMIC TEST

Army Sfc. Lee N. Franks, son of James E. Hall, Jackhorn, has been getting first hand combat training in atomic warfare at Camp Desert Rock, Nev., proving ground of the atomic bomb.

Crouched in a trench approximately 9,800 yards from "ground zero", he recently witnessed the ninth nuclear blast in the spring series — this one by air drop.

Shortly after the explosion he clambered out to take part in a mock attack on the devastated area.

Sfc. Franks, who entered the Army in June 1950, is assigned to the 4th Medical Tank Battalion at Fort Hood, Texas.

He holds the Purple Heart for wounds received in action and the UN and Korean Service Ribbons.

Dumping grounds such as these are costing Kentucky taxpayers untold thousands of dollars each year and marring the looks of the state. This trash is on state highways in the central and western parts of the Commonwealth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Just a few rambling notes for the folks back home, wish you could all be with us.

Leaving Whitesburg at 9:30 (CST) May 1, it hardly seemed possible that we were on the first lap of the journey to Paris and Rotary International, that vaccinations were over passports in, and the many details arranged for. We reached the Lafayette Hotel, Marietta, Ohio on the banks of the river about 6:00 p. m. It was a delightful drive through West, Va. into Ohio following the boulevard along the river where barges and tug boats lay.

Springtime is a glorious time to travel. Royal Azaleas were in joyous bloom in many yards, along the roadside were bushes of red bud, a graceful weeping willows, clumps of dogwood and beautiful pink ones in their full glory. There were wide open green fields with herds of Holstein cattle and Black Angus, Herefords and Jerseys. Tractors were plowing the rich fertile soil of the good earth for abundant crops later, and were acres of apple orchards, soft blooms just past prime.

Coming into Marietta we reached the heart of a great industrial region opening up more and more. The dining room, approved by Duncan Hines is called the Sam room and tells quite a story. In the center of the ceiling is a 11 ft. Ohio river pilot wheel, that with many models of old guns gave atmosphere for liessurely meals—after supper a stroll and a few moments on the benches in the small parks by the river.

Morning sunrise on the water, glistening sparkling, masses, gold fashioned lilacs in bloom by a serene country home—wayside tables for the many tourists and motels, pink dogwoods all through the countryside are duets in the meadows, cows grazing, a farming region—steel bridges spanning the river—a great industrial region with "unlimited reserves of natural gas ready."

Marietta was the first permanent settlement in Ohio, first state in the Northwest territory to become one of U. S. A.'s with development of agriculture, industry, commerce transportation by the first settlers—Now expanding wide open country, low lying hills beyond, a ferry over the W. Va. We passed through Belaire, near Brownsville, within a radius of 30-45 miles there is a Jersey Cattle Association one of the first and strongest in America. About 1920 Lee and Ken Scott and Dave McPherson came through hunting pure bred jersey cattle for Alamance Co., N. C., bring back to Alamance County three cars of cattle—four of the little Jersey calves were brought from the farm to Letcher County, starting a dairy herd, offspring of the Belaire cattle, now mixed with Holsten for better balanced milk.

Over the bridges to Wheeling, W. Va., one of the three great cities in industrial W. Va., — on to Pennsylvania, quickly we passed Pa-W. Va., Corporation Hardware and Mine supplies, a big low building of "The Valley Camp Coal Co." Farmers Co-op Corporation Seeds and Fertilizers, a wayside sign "Honey and Apples for sale" This is an agricultural nation, still—

10:40 and the Pa. State line! Later a sign, "welcome to Pa. We could hardly wait to see Betty Lee and Larry! No. 49 historic road to Washington and Baltimore with a hearty sign "Visit Fort Necessity"

Lunch in the Hill Top Restaurant and your watches were pushed up an hour. Miles of rolling country, low hills, far views, the road ahead sometimes seen for miles climbing hills and curving roads—at Mercer a beautiful old court house, thirteen miles to Sandy Lake and we were 510 miles from home with the kiddies running to meet us.

We had the privilege of dining at the Charming Sharon Country Club with Dr. Ralph Dye and daughter Norma Jean, Ed and Myrtle Weirbachtal, coming in from La Saer Minnesota, fellowship with Rotarians, so soon on the journey and all going to Paris.

Sunday dinner at the hotel with the Corbets' friend Bess, the children could hardly wait. They got up from the table filled to the brim, almost breathless — we had a hearty laugh. Mary and I and friend Bess, went to the Music Club at the Methodist Church, with dinner followed by a very fine program.

On Tuesday evening was the children's music recital at the Burrough Building. They have a fine teacher. On the way home we strolled into the fireman's building where there was much gaiety, coffee and doughnuts, folk dancing, and bright new red fire engines on display for the house warming.

On May 6th Mary Louise and Warren went with us to Cleveland at 10:15 p. m. a group took the President's Special for Lake Placid—this train went on to Utica, N. Y., down to New York City, picking up groups along the way, about two hundred arriving at Lake Placid Club the following morning—400 others coming in from all directions and in different ways.

The morning dawned gloriously—we have had perfect weather for the Rotary meetings. Many clubs and organizations hold meetings here. In the summer months club members from all over the United States take over. This is enchanting country and an ideal setting for group gatherings. The incoming Governors have been really going to school hard, at work, assembling all that Rotary has done and plans for the next year and on with the future.

With this rambling comfortable main building many cottages and other buildings — golf course, tennis courts, horse back riding, winter skiing, hunting, fishing and mountain climbing. Not far away is the North Pole where we met a cordial hearty white haired and bearded Santa Claus with red trousers and a big buckle in his belt. We saw his sled and reindeer, and all the colorful work shops. We saw a big red motor wheel and a miniature bridge level—ing chapel really dedicated to Saint Nichols, with a hand carved creche. The red roof and neatly clumps of white bricks are reflected in the water. There were peacocks and rabbits in the yard and gay colored shops were filled with toys.

That was on the Memorial Highway leading to White Face, Mt., 4872 feet high. From the top of the tower spreads a view of "majestic beauty" Lake Champlain gleaming in the sunlight and the river threading its way through the hills.

In front of Lake Placid Club buildings is Mirror Lake — Lake Placid is a big winding lake with many inlets. Taking the boatride a group of women found houses all along the banks, also clubs and hotels. Kate Smith broadcasts from her home in the summer, Lowell Thomas comes up for spring, the lines were down. Emergency lines made his broadcast possible after a somewhat frantic wait.

Quite a few things were planned beside the regular programs and the classes for the incoming governors.

The Rotary Anns have fully enjoyed the meetings—and the social get together at the golf house with opportunity for contact and happy conversation, or playing, bingo, canasta, etc. Coffee in the afternoon and perhaps in the evening, the making of friendships to enrich the years.

On the first evening, May 7 came the President's reception followed by the fellowship dinner at 7:30 and at 9:30.

The first planning session with introduction of the Board members, past Presidents and then the roll call by flags. The presentation of the flags was most dramatic, as Boy Scouts crossed the stage placing each flag in position, making a colorful background for the stage grouping and a challenge for the blending of nations in Rotary fellowship and service.

The planary session for May 12th, began with group singing, the theme of the discussion being International service (panel discussion), International Student projects, Rotary Foundation Fellowships. We have Rotarians on our panel from the Cotton fields of Mississippi; the Mayholia State, the Cherry trees of Japan and the bathing beaches of Prince Edward, and the well-trimmed gardens of England.

The representative from Japan said he was sorry every Rotarian can't attend R. I. taking back some of the inspiration. The idea from Prince Edward is that incoming Governors might be inoculated with the germ and take it back to the 8,000 clusos of which they are a part as invisible line 3,000 in separate Canada and the U. S. that dots not divide. Many unexplored opportunities exist. They had an international dinner with 412 visitors from 60 clubs and 7 districts. One by one every from home asked what he'd rather see replied "My Country's flag. Flags of the many nations were bought and presented to the air base.

Four foundation fellows were presented—"Their talks brought out the idea of widened horizons "one of the most stimulating years of my life" Wales was selected as a place for study by one and as a source of culture and preservation of traditions, birthplace of democracy.

Meetings and talking with Rotarians and Rotary Anns from over the world should certainly help to make this one world in love, fellowship and good will. It adds friends and enriches life—I think we would all voice the desire expressed by the Rotarian from Japan that all Rotarians might share this experience of attending Rotary International.

asked Mr. Bentley if he were to be given a new start in life, if he would begin as he did 100 years ago or start with the present, he replied: "The old way is the best, I would rather start as I started—This age is too fast for me." He thinks children are not being brought up right, and it is the fault of the parents—they are not being taught the value of work he said. He recalled the days when he and his family would clear the new ground and till the soil, many times leave before day light and come in after dark. He said they often took their lunch with them to keep from having to climb the steep hill. People raised lots of sheep, cattle and horses then, he said.

The only living member of Mr. Bentley's father's family is his brother, John Bentley who is 85 and lives a short distance from his home on Rockhouse.

Mr. Bentley stated that he and his first wife had 10 children, she passed away in 1910 and he later married Mrs. Sarah Banks—no children were born to this union but they stated that they had kept quite a large number of children at different times and at varying ages in their home. Mrs. Bentley is now 70, is very active, makes her own garden and does a lot of canning of fruits and vegetables for winter use.

One story Uncle Riley enjoyed telling us about was the first release of logs by man-made water dams. There was much Yellow Poplar then he said and he and Bill Wright (Dr. B. F. Wright's father) would get the logs ready to go, some of the Poplar was over 4 feet through, then build dams at various places and splash them out into the Kentucky River. The biggest market for timber at that time was at Jackson, but some of it went on to Beattyville and other places farther down stream. He related one incident of how he saved a man's life, this kind of work was very dangerous he said. He said when Bill Wright came down sick he sent for him and wanted him to let the dams go. Mr. Bentley said he told him he had not had much experience at that sort of thing, but Mr. Wright said, "I know you haven't, but I feel that you can do it as good as anyone." He showed us a picture of himself and Martin Wright, a brother of Bill, said he was a fine man.

Mr. Bentley said the game in his early youth was plenty, there being deer, squirrel, fish coon, woodchuck, possums and rabbits, there were also a few bear in the early days, he said. "Deer meat was really good", he said. He said he could remember when there was not a cook stove in the county, and wood was the only fuel used. For many years he said, one of the hardest jobs to do in the fall, was to get in enough wood for the winter. They started burning coal about 45 years ago, he added. He remembers when he could walk through the hills to Neon which was only about 10 miles in a short time and to Whitesburg which is only about 12 miles, by the woods, He said he would love to be young again in order to do some work said he loved to make money, said on many occasions he had served as sort of a banker for his community, he keeping all the way from $2,000 to $3,000 dollars at a time for his neighbors and friends.

Asked if he knew many people in Whitesburg, he replied "I know several young fellows over there, a young lawyer, Combs, Hawk, a young fellow Hale."

He said when the first courthouse was torn down the old brick in the building was up for sale, a certain local man appeared, went over and leaned against the brick, and said, "Boys, it's mine, I have come after it," then when the bid reached a pretty good sum he just walked off and said, "I was just going to see that no one got it for nothing." Uncle Riley laughed heartily as he told this one. In those early days he said there were lots of hitching posts in town, all around the court house, now not a hitching post can be found. There were no roads then, he added, and the mud in the streets was knee deep. Mr. Bentley said one of the hardest items to get in the early days was salt, and coffee, said most all of the salt was hauled in in barrels by oxen from Prestonsburg. He remembers when three barrels were hauled in one load, each barrel weighing 300 pounds each.

As we left Mr. and Mrs. Bentley extended an invitation to visit with them again. Mr. Bentley said he wished more people would come to see him, that he was not able to go anywhere, I feel like I am getting weaker every day he said.

Needless to say we enjoyed our visit with these beloved people.

SERMONETTE

Fear not: for I am with Thee. (Isaiah 43:5) Read Psalm 91:1-6 or I John 5:1-5.

Bombers thundered overhead as the little family found shelter in the trench. As the bombs fell, the mother, the father, and the children sat in tense silence. Only the terrified baby in its mother's arms cried out.

Suddenly, the little five-year-old boy reached out his hand toward his baby brother. The baby's fingers took hold of it. "Don't cry," the older brother said. "I will sing you a song. Then you won't be afraid." He sang,

"Do not fear, God is near
All the bright stars say."

The child, the son of Buddhists, had been attending a church school under the trees. It was there that he had learned to sing this song and to worship.

Life brings to us fears, uncertainties, sorrows; but that which in a day of terror brought confidence to the heart of the little boy is ever the same message for all God's children. The victory that overcomes the world is our faith in Christ.

PRAYER

How grateful we are, Father, for Thy presence with us in life's way. We entrust ourselves to Thy care. Help us to go forward in quiet trust, knowing with certainty that Thou art near, all the night and day. In our Redeemer's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

KENTUCKY NEWS
IN BRIEF

County Superintendents have no authority to recommend emergency or sub-standard school teachers for employment, when legally qualified teachers are available for service, Asst. Attorney Gen. W. Owen Keller ruled. The ruling was given in the midst of the season when new teachers are being chosen for the coming year for the guidance of school boards and superintendents.

A proposed toll turnpike between Louisville and Elizabethtown has been found to be "engineeringly sound" as a result of initial examinations, and a full scale engineering study on the project has been now ordered by Commissioner of Highways W. P. Curlin.

The preliminary study, made by New York engineering firm of Coverdale and Colpitts, "indicates very strongly that a toll road is feasible." Curlin announced that design engineers had been named to recommend location of the proposed road and an estimate of the overall cost of the project. Informal estimates made earlier indicated its cost would be approximately $22,000,000.

The State stands to pick up an additional $200,000 to $300,000 as a result of the Court of Appeals changing a decision in a tax case.

William E. Scent, director of the Department of Revenue's legal staff, estimated that sum would come into the State Treasury because of an Appellate Court ruling which held profits of stockholders from dissolution of a distillery corporation—stock of which has been held longer than two years — was subject to state income taxes.

The county attorney may be employed by a city in special employment — such as special legal work for the city but may not regularly fill the post of city attorney — Asst. Atty. General Walter C. Herdman ruled. The opinion was given the Mount Olivet Board of Trustees where the only attorney in the town is the county attorney. He pointed out, however, that it is made the mandatory duty of the county attorney to prosecute cases in the city police court where there is no police court prosecutor.

'Bear' Facts-

By PAUL BRYANT
UK Football Coach

One sure sign of the rapid approach of the football season, despite the fact that at the University of Kentucky we are just finishing up spring training, is the first appearance of the annual madness known as the poll.

And the pre-season poll to determine the top teams and or the best players, such as the one authored by Southeastern Conference coaches last week in the Birmingham News, is without doubt the most senseless form of the process of almost continual vote collection.

Taking this yearly crystal ball-gazing effort of the coaches' group as an example the record shows that neither the team put on the spot as the likely champion nor the outfit pegged for a cellar finish is helped by the opinion poll.

In fact, if anything is indicated, it is that the poll boils down to a consensus by the coaches of the teams on their own schedules that they expect. The coach, like the sportswriter and sportscaster, to some extent unconsciously, pect to have the most trouble voices via the poll a higher opinion of teams they are in close contact with and know the most about. A most important and interesting point as to why they voted the way they did is never brought out in the poll.

That the coaches are sometimes amazingly accurate in picking the best team in the SEC is secondary to the reasoning behind the poll but might be interesting to cite. Last season, the conference mentors picked the finish 1-2-3 4, Georgia Tech through Alabama, but missed on Kentucky as their choice for fifth. Their nomination for the champion has been good more times than not, but there are some noticeable bloopers on the record. One of the biggest was when they tabbed Kentucky for eighth in 1949 and we finished in the runner-up spot. Their predicting on the Wildcats improved the next season as we were spotted second and ended up with our first SEC championship.

STATE POLICE SPEND
26,039 HOURS ON PATROL

State Police troopers spent 26,039 hours in traffic patrol last month, driving 367,207 miles, according to the April report issued by the Department of State Police.

There were 1,681 hours spent in accident investigation and 2,218 hours were spent in court.

Troopers made 3,279 traffic arrests and issued warnings to 7,158 motorists. There were 2,535 convictions and fines of $61,745.54 were levied. Court costs totaled $22,338.55. There were 697 dismissals.

There were 192 accident arrests as a result of 846 accident investigations. The report showed 141 criminal arrests made during the month.

TIME IS MONEY

The time you spend on your job is money in your pay envelope. Like time, this money has a way of "flying" fast . . . from one pay day to the next. You can't make time stand still. But you can make some of your money stand still . . . in a savings account. Not only stand still, but GROW steadily via the interest it earns for you. Timely advice: start a savings account at once. Then deposit a definite amount of money every pay day . . . before it gets a chance, to fly!

to the point and he gave real timely advice to the graduating class. The class history, the class poem, the class jokes, the class prophecy, etc. and the presentation of the 7th. grade, the salutatory and valedictory were well presented. After the diplomas were presented the American Legion awards were presented to Lillie Warrick and Charles Reynolds by W. H. Belt.

Paul Hailey, of 3251 Taylor Blvd. Louisville, and Elbert Fugate, Jr., of Mayking and others were callers on Legion business in Neon last week.

In a few days now the gals and ladies will be pinning a poppy on your lapel and since the funds are used in relieving suffering of various kinds like helping out some child who is in need of help or some other good cause you will be expected to chip in some little token to carry this cause along.

There is no specific charge for the poppy, but one would be a chump if he didn't give at least a thin dime.

Friends And Voters Of District No. 7

As you know I am a candidate for Justice of Peace and am asking you for your support in the coming Democratic Primary Election.

I am the son of the late Rev. Ben J. and Elizabeth (Lincoln), Nick name of mother Adams. I was born and reared on Pine Creek, near Mayking.

I have lived near the old home place all my life. I realize there are many of you who do not know me. I refer you to my friends and neighbors who know me best.

Inquire about my way of living. I will be glad to let my life record as a citizen be a witness for me. I have always been a law abiding citizen. I have never been convicted of any crime, I have never held any public office. I have always been for good clean government in county and nation. I have always voted for the best interest of all.

I am a member of the Old Regular Baptist Church at Mayking. I am a former miner and am a veteran of World War I. I served our country two years, one of them on the battle fields of France, and I am experienced with what a soldier's life is in war. If nominated and elected I promise with the help of God to give you four years of honest and faithful service like I gave to our country.

I hope to be able to see each and everyone of you before the election, to better acquaint ourselves.

I fought for you in 1917-18, so won't you please help me now. Go to the polls on August 1, 1953 and cast your vote for an old soldier. He certainly will appreciate your vote and influence.

Sincerely yours,
—CHARLES ADAMS.

GO ALONG THE RIGHT WAY

Ruth Snell

From the top of the hill in the month of May

Along the road to Bible School I go every day;

The little flowers nod their heads to me and say,

"Good little girl, go along the right way."

As I go along I see high up in a tree

A little bird singing, as if singing to me,

And it's merry tune to me seems to say,

"Good little girl, go along the right way."

Farther along as I go, I can see the blue sky,

And not so far away is a beautiful butterfly,

And I cross a little stream that laughs to say

Good little girl, go along the right way."

As I cross the bridge and into the church I trod,

Where we have Bible School and learn about God,

The wild flowers, the blue sky, the birds all say,

"Good little girl, stay along the right way."

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON by Glenn Thrift

Booker T. was a poor little boy

He had little chance for school;

Where there's a will, there's always a way

And Book T. was nobody's fool.

He soon got a higher education,

And became a very great man. He built Tuskegee School One of the best in the land.

They build a statue to Booker T.

One very large and fine, And so it was little Booker T. Who left his footprints on the sands of time.

These two poems were written by members of the Intermediate class of the Daily Vacation Bible School of the Methodist Church. There are 18 in this group who are studying the book, "Becoming a Person" by Louise Griffiths. They are doing creative writing, poetry, art, plays and how to prepare worship centers and give their own devotionals.

Ranges Reaching Point Where They Do All But Take Orders

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

The kitchen is one place where time can be saved—and where the humdrum job of preparing three meals every day can be made more enjoyable. These are the goals range manufacturers have been working toward for years.

Take electric ranges, for example. They have blossomed out this year in conjunction with a deep well cooker. Divided ovens (top and bottom) with two separate heat controls to make possible the feat of baking in one half and broiling in the other.

An electronic eye for a surface unit that prevents heat from going beyond marked cooking zones for frying, boiling or warming. Even if pans boil dry, this device prevents foods from burning.

DOUBLE OVENS—one feature of new time and labor-saving ranges.

with a host of new mechanical and electronic marvels which make cooking fun and more time releasing than ever before. This is good news to all women, but especially to farm women. Many farm wives are over-worked. Anything which can help them do any job faster, easier and with more pleasure is most welcome.

A glance at some of the new electric ranges shows that they have enough time and labor savers, and "built-in" cooking adventure to bring many a curious male into the kitchen to try his hand with skillet and oven. Here, from mere man's standpoint, are some of these new features—not necessarily in the order of their importance, but simply as news for the housewife.

Built-in, thermostatically controlled, plug-in French-fryer unit that oper-

Ovens which stretch across the full width of 30-inch ranges making them large enough to bake 10 loaves of bread at one time. A built-in barbecue attachment for the oven which has its own motor and is self-turning and self-basting. And, double-oven ranges, with each oven complete in itself for baking or broiling individually or at the same time.

In addition, energy inputs of units have been stepped up to increase cooking efficiencies, and such helpful devices as oven timers, warming drawers, oven lights and others, have been retained. What the future holds for more improvements is anybody's guess. But if it's anything like the present, it's going to be mighty hard spending much time working in the kitchen.

Tax Revenue Dept. Re-Organizes

Reorganization of the Department of Revenue, announced by Commissioner of Revenue Robert H. Allphin, gives the department only seven major operating units with 17 sections, in place of 10 units with 19 sections.

Allphin said the new plan was recommended to achieve more efficiency and economy in handling a steadily increasing volume of work. As an example of increased work, he cited the increase in the number of income tax returns, from 45,000 in 1940, to 130,000 in 1948 to 400,000 in 1953.

Better management will result from the cutting down on the number of operating units, and greater emphasis will be placed on auditing, Allphin said.

One of the accomplishments of the move will be to relieve associate members of the Kentucky Tax Commission of judging their own decisions as directors of division in the department. The associates, Jess B. Thomas and Robert A. Thompson will give full time to equalization and to the appeal functions of the commission.

FARM NOTES

(—by Robert H. Fike County Agent)

What with all the wet weather, yes it looks bad especially for gardens covered over with water and almost as bad for the ones that haven't been worked out as yet. (Mine is the latter).

At least the farmers who haven't turned under their cover crops are getting a good growth. Pastures are getting well ahead of the cows.

This is no reason to give up for the rest of the season, but roll up those sleeves and let's get ready to go when the sun shines again. There's hay to cut, corn to hoe corn to plant — garden to repant, a few strawberries left to pick and insects to control, watch them or they'll ruin those gardens.

The Farm and Home radio program Saturday at 6:30 a. m. (CST) will help answer some of your many questions.

Safety Hints

—by Lovell Williams—

The County Safety Bureau is making every effort toward reducing the number of accidents we are suffering in our county today. The accidents are increasing, and without your help accidents will still increase, which will sooner or later result in a fatal one.

Help stop these accidents, by checking your speed and checking your car for safety first. I say this, because, your car carries the most important people in the world, you and your family.

This Bureau is giving away an award to the driver of this county who has driven as much as fifty years or nearest to 50 years without having an accident. Write or call the County Sheriff's office today.

You will have to be present at the Alene Theatre on Saturday evening, May 23, to receive the award.

NEW BULLETIN BOARD INSTALLED AT LOCAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Graham Memorial Presbyterian Church has recently bought and installed a new bulletin board. The Ashtabula Sign Company of Ashtabula, Ohio, built the bulletin board of cedar and aluminum. It is illuminated and has a lighted cross at the top.

SANDLICK HOMEMAKERS
A most helpful lesson, planning your time with a purpose was presented to the following Sandlick Homemakers, May 7, Mrs. A. W. Fields, Mrs. Chester Combs, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Corrine Clay, Mrs. Minta Mullins, Mrs. C. D. Lynch, Mrs. Rebecca Long, Mrs. Mollie Mullins, Mrs. Geo. M. Adams, Mrs. Elsie Niece, Mrs. Morgan Polly, hostess and two guests: Mrs. Suzanne Adams and Miss Rachel Combs.

As this was the last lesson in home management, a review of the lesson on saving time and energy was given by project leader Mrs. Elsie Niece and Margaret Polly. It is now hoped that each and every goal set for this year will be reached and practiced faithfully throughout the coming years. Nothing will prove more valuable to busy homemakers than the acquired knowledge of new and better methods of doing her work and planning her time with a purpose. In this way she will have more time and more energy for enjoying life. Now, more than ever, we are all being taught and urged to take time and live.

The present site of Keeneland Race Course, near Lexington, occupies approximately 150 acres of an 8,000 acre tract granted Francis Keene by Patrick Henry, then Governor of Virginia.

Reece Stewart who became suddenly ill at his home on Wednesday afternoon shows some improvement according to the latest report.
